

AP Literature and Composition Summer Reading 2011

Evaluation: These titles will be examined on the first four days of classes after Labor Day, commencing on Tuesday, September 6, 2011. One of them will be tested objectively, another through the writing of an essay in AP format, and the remaining two through combined objective and essay testing. Students will be advised on Wednesday, August 31, our orientation day, as to the evaluative approach that will be taken with each title and the order of tests. Discussions of this reading will follow the testing program.
